MegaX®

Daily Support for Your Heart and Brain*

Stop “Fishing” for Your Omegas.

Supporting your heart and brain health is key to overall wellness, but how exactly do you do that? One answer: Omega-3s. These essential fatty acids (fats that you can only get from your diet) support the heart and the brain and are necessary for good health, but most Americans don’t get enough of them.

Because Omega-3s are not common in the modern American diet, many people turn to supplements to help. The problem is that traditionally, the “best” option for Omega-3 supplements has been fish oil, and fish oil can leave behind an unpleasant aftertaste or cause fish burps for the rest of the day (no thank you!).

We get it. You want to support your heart and brain, but you do not want to deal with the less-than-appetizing side effects of taking fish oil. You deserve a better Omega. Which is why we are hooked on MegaX.

MegaX

Plexus MegaX® is a broad-spectrum, plant-based Omega you will actually love. It features Ahiflower Oil, which contains Omega-3 stearidonic acid (a more bioavailable Omega-3 than most plant-based options offer). MegaX gives you the heart and brain health benefits you want without contaminants like mercury (which are common in fish oil) or an unpleasant aftertaste.*

MegaX doesn’t just provide support for a healthy heart and brain. It also supports healthy lipid levels already in the normal range and can even help with stress management.*

With MegaX, you can say farewell to fish oil and still feel like a wellness warrior — confident that you are supporting your heart and brain health every day.*

MegaX uses high-quality ingredients and is formulated to offer the benefits of an Omega-3 supplement without the fishy taste.
